

BATTLE RAGES IN VIOLENT STORM

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Paris, Sept. 29.—With the French and British now driving against the second and third lines of the Germans in the mighty battle that has developed on the west front, fighting is proceeding in violent storms that are raging all the way from the Vosges mountains to the North Sea.

Wind and rain are lashing the armies as they surge against the shell-battered trenches of the Germans and the fog which hangs thick and low has rendered artillery firing and French and British troops have shown the utmost heroism in meeting the crashing counter-attacks of the Germans, and these assaults were not only repulsed with enormous losses, but resulted in fresh gains for the allies.

Conservative estimates now place the number of German prisoners taken north of Arras and in the Champagne districts at 25,000 men and 350 officers. The number of cannon and machine guns taken by the allies is being increased so rapidly that the officers have not time to enumerate them.

Although the allies have not been able to break through the German line, they are beating the Teutonic forces back yard by yard, while they work nearest to the important lines of communication by which the Teutonic forces in northern France are being supplied with food and ammunition.

The Germans have rushed reinforcements from the eastern theatre has now been proven by the capture of German soldiers who admitted taking part in von Hindenburg's campaign in Poland.

The two sources of heaviest fighting lie from Arras to Amiens and in the Champagne and Argonne regions, where the allies are pounding the two flanks of the German army in France.

Artillery on both sides is thundering all along the line. The Germans using their heaviest guns in an effort to silence the British and French cannon that are smashing the Teutonic trenches to bits. So violent is the cannonade that the roar of the guns can be heard on the outskirts of Paris when the wind is from the north. Millions of shells are being hurled every twenty-four hours.

There is no sign of let-up in the gigantic drive undertaken by Gen. Joffre and Field Marshal Sir John French, and it is believed by military experts that it will continue until the Germans are driven from Lens, Lille and St. Mihiel and important roads and railways now held by the Teutons in the Champagne and Argonne regions, are wrested from the invaders.

PRIMARY RESULTS IN CITY AND COUNTY

As expected, the vote on Primary Day throughout the city and county on Tuesday was light. In the city there was but two contests and in both the winners were those seeking renomination.

Walter P. Crane, the Republican candidate for alderman-at-large on the Republican ticket, also received the nomination on the Democratic ticket. The Democrats were unable to induce Joseph A. Sheppard to run for the office and as a result there was a vacancy on the ticket and about 50 Democrats wrote Mr. Crane's name on their ballot. Mr. Sheppard received a few votes, his friends writing his name in, as did also Alderman William B. Martin, who wanted the nomination but was turned down by the Democratic "leaders."

Mayor Canfield, who is the Republican candidate for mayor, also received the nomination of the Bull Moose, the American and the Prohibition parties. Mr. Crane is also the candidate for alderman-at-large on the Bull Moose, American and Prohibition tickets.

The only Republican contest was in the Third ward where Alderman Schick was seeking a renomination. The alderman defeated his opponent, James Miller, by a vote of 68 to 23. Alderman Schick also received six votes on the Democratic ticket.

The only contest on the Democratic ticket was in the Seventh ward where Supervisor Quigley had as his opponents Joseph Schuler and Anthony Bowers. Quigley got 108 votes, Schuler 52 and Bowers 21. Schuler, however, secured the nomination on the Bull Moose ticket, getting the only three votes cast in that ward.

In the Second ward where there was a vacancy on the Democratic ticket the nomination for supervisor was secured by T. I. Rifenbary, the Republican candidate, and Robert McKittrick, the Republican candidate for alderman, also secured the Democratic nomination.

In the Eleventh ward there was also a vacancy on the Democratic ticket and William H. Van Etten, the Republican candidate, is also the choice of the Democrats. In the First ward W. Scott Gillespie, who refused to run for mayor on the Democratic ticket, secured the nomination for alderman, his name being written in by his Democratic friends.

In the Fifth ward Frank Brown, the Republican candidate for alderman, also secured the Democratic nomination. The Tenth ward has no Democratic candidate for alderman. The "goats" could find no "goat" before Primary Day and on Tuesday the following each received one vote for the office: J. Meyers, Patrick Fitzgerald, John C. Mullen, L. L. Brown, Edward Fitzgerald and James A. Phelan. It being a tie vote none of the six receive the nomination.

In the Twelfth ward where the Democrats could find no "goat" for alderman the nomination was secured by former Police Commissioner John D. Hafferty.

The only contest in the country was as to who should receive the nomination for member of assembly on the Democratic ticket in the Second assembly district and the candidate for member of assembly on the Bull Moose ticket in the First assembly district, both of which offices were left vacant on the primary ballot. As all of the returns were not received by the board of election commissioners until late today it was impossible to compile the vote on these offices.

PANTALETTES? OH MY YES! MRS. LONGWORTH WEARS THEM. Miss Edith Ponto, and Mrs. Nicholas Longworth Wearing the New Pantalettes.

Chicago, Sept. 29.—New York has not yet accepted the pantalette as the proper garment for women, but Chicago has welcomed it to its bosom, garment here.

Mrs. Nicholas Longworth, who as Alice Roosevelt, gave the country "Alice Blue," was one of the first women to wear the new pantalettes on the street. Instead of being of net with ruffles, they were of heavy silk material, with a wide tuck in each leg reaching to the ankles. They would have been noticed if they had not been pantalettes, being somewhat longer than the prevailing fashion in skirts. A big heavy travelling coat, with a broad cloth collar, conspicuous for the absence of fur of any kind, was worn with the "skirtless" looking trousers.

Miss Edith Ponto was also seen wearing the new garment or garments, which ever they are, or it is. Heavy embroidery was used to trim the bottoms of the pantalettes worn by Miss Ponto.

BULGARIA MAY REMAIN NEUTRAL

Paris, Sept. 29.—A news agency dispatch received here today states that the Bulgarian cabinet headed by Premier Radoslavoff has fallen, and that King Ferdinand has asked M. Malinoff, a strong supporter of the entente allies, to form a ministry.

The message attributes Radoslavoff's fall to his efforts to align Bulgaria with Germany in defiance of the popular sentiment in his country. The news which it conveyed caused a sensation here, despite the fact that information which had reached the French government had caused an optimistic feeling for the last two days.

The reported selection of M. Malinoff for the post of premier is taken in official French circles as a definite indication that Bulgaria will not support the Teutonic powers, but will at least maintain neutrality, in accordance with the pledges which have been sent to all the European chancelleries.

Premier Radoslavoff has been regarded as the strongest statesman of Bulgaria. He reached the climax of his power on July 20, 1913, when he became head of the cabinet. His ministry was reappointed on January 5, 1914.

In this Radoslavoff also served as foreign minister ad interim. The other members reappointed were: Minister of Finance M. Toncheff, Minister of Justice and Education M. Pecheff, Minister of War General Boradieff, Minister of Commerce M. Blakoff, Minister of Public Works M. Dimitcheff, Minister of Railways M. A. Postoloff.

MEXICANS MENACE TEXAS BORDER

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Brownsville, Texas, Sept. 29.—Mexican "snipers" fired more than fifty shots during the night at American soldiers stationed near Progreso, Texas, to prevent another invasion of the United States, according to military reports received here today. The American soldiers stuck closely to their hastily constructed trenches as the bullets sped across the Rio Grande and none was injured.

No reply was made to the firing during the night, but reinforcements were called for when it was learned that the Mexicans numbered more than 600 men, apparently gathered on the south bank of the Rio Grande for another invasion. Field guns were sent to Progreso to command the crossing. The situation at Progreso and the murder of private Richard J. Johnson, of the Twelfth cavalry, have brought another crisis on the border. The Mexican quarter in Brownsville was guarded all night because of threats of violence after the reports reached here that Johnson had been beheaded after being brutally tortured.

STATE CAPITOL REPAIRS COMPLETED

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Albany, Sept. 29.—After an elapse of four and one half years the State Capitol at Albany is at last restored completely and no one would suspect that one of the most devastating fires in the history of Albany had ever threatened the entire structure and destroyed the greater portion of the west wing.

When the state trustees of public buildings meet, which will be on Thursday, if a quorum can be secured, the last steps will be taken to close up the accounts relative to the cost of reconstruction and the report of the special commission appointed to estimate whether the contract price for the last six months of work was proper.

As the result of the rebuilding of the burned portions of the west wing of the capitol room has been provided for several bureaus which heretofore were housed outside of the big state building. The principal committees of the senate and assembly are provided for on the third floor directly behind the senate and assembly chambers. On the same floor is the magnificently appointed library for the senate and assembly.

On the fourth and fifth floors ample apartments have been made for the state board of charities, the state tax commission, both of which were forced out of the capitol as the result of the fire. The state labor department and the State Workmen's Compensation Commission, are also quartered in the reconstructed portion of the capitol.

Over the senate chamber, the space which was being used as a store room, has been rebuilt so that now a suite of rooms has been placed at the disposal of the state department of health. The corporation bureau of the state comptroller's department, hitherto quartered outside of the capitol, is at present occupying the rooms once used by the state department of labor. The state superintendent of weights and measures has new quarters in the west wing.

Four new elevators have been installed in the west wing of the capitol and it is now possible to reach the rear of the senate and assembly chambers by their use. The cost of the reconstruction of the burned west wing has been approximately $2,250,000. The original contracts were let on the percentage basis. Later it was found that this system was too costly and competitive bids were advertised. Callahan and Prescott did the majority of the work.

During the administration of William Sulzer there was considerable talk of graft and an investigation was brought about. It was discovered that men had been employed who charged for time they had never put in. This condition specifically applied to some of the electrical workers.

All of the debris and the work houses which were built on the west lawn of the capitol have been removed and new sod has been laid out, so that the last semblance of building operations has been removed and to the ere of the stranger the capitol now appears as though it had never been threatened by one of the most memorable fires in the history of the city and as result of which a night watchman lost his life.

Steamer Run Aground.
By Telegraph to The Freeman.
South Norwalk, Conn., Sept. 29.—The freighter Isabel, plying between here and New York, did not sink in the Sound last night as reported by a boatload of the crew, but was run aground off Shippan Point on Cow Rocks to prevent it. Captain Rowland hit a submerged wreck of some sort. Knowing she was settling rapidly he ran her aground. Captain Rowland and fourteen men remained aboard the cargo from the hold to the upper decks. A tug has been sent to the Isabel, and after temporary repairs she will be floated and sent to drydock.

Accidentally Killed by a Hunter.
By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Utica, Sept. 29.—The first hunting fatality in the Adirondacks of the season was reported today from Salisbury Center. Charles Farville, 35, was shot and instantly killed through the accidental discharge of a rifle in the hands of a companion, Frank Miller, a companion. Miller carried his gun over his shoulder and a twig catching the trigger discharged the weapon, sending a bullet through Farville's neck.

BERLIN REPORTS CAPTURE OF BRITISH

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Berlin, Sept. 29.—It is officially announced that the Germans have captured 103 British officers and 3,558 men in the fighting in France and West Flanders.

In spite of the tremendous efforts of the allies to pierce the German line, the Teutonic troops are still standing like a stone wall, although it is admitted that there have been retirements at some points on the line in order to avoid unnecessary loss of life from the British and French artillery.

Violent fighting is still in progress with the Germans counterattacking wherever the allies have assumed the offensive. German artillery is replying to the bombardment of the German trenches and a fierce big gun duel is raging.

ARMENIANS SLAIN OR DRIVEN TO DESERT

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, Sept. 29.—"Armenia has been depopulated. More than 800,000 Armenians already have been killed or driven off into desert exile by the Turks."

"At least 75,000 Armenians of military age have been drafted into the Turkish army and are being used as targets for the guns of the allies."

"The Turkish government is using the war as an excuse for engineering a diabolical scheme to wipe the Armenian race off the face of the earth, and unless the Christian nations of the world step in immediately the Turks will succeed."

These statements were made today by Rev. A. Bedakian, pastor of the Armenian Protestant Church in New York, who has secured much first hand information concerning the Turkish atrocities from missionaries from the Armenian district or from Armenian refugees who have escaped to the United States.

"When the full story of the Turks' persecution of the Armenians during the past eight months is told, it will make a story without parallel for cruelty in the history of the world," said Rev. Mr. Bedakian. "The Turks have used the war as a pretext for wiping out the Armenian race. That government realizes that the Christian world would not even in war times, countenance the wholesale slaughter of Armenians, so it devised the cunning scheme of sending the Armenians into exile—deporting them, according to the Turkish explanation—and letting them die by the hundreds of thousands in the barren deserts where they have sent them."

"Armenia today is a nation deserted. A year ago there was about 1,750,000 Armenians in the home country. Today there is none. Probably 200,000 already have been killed by the Turks or by roving tribes of Kurds. 600,000 and more have been driven into exile. Every able bodied man has been drafted into the service of the Turkish army. The other Armenians have fled."

SWOBODA IS CLEARED.
Alleged German Spy to be Released From French Prison.

Paris, Sept. 29.—Raymond, Swoboda, who claims he is an American citizen, but who has been confined in a French prison for many months as a spy for Germany, was cleared of this accusation in an official report submitted today by Commandant Julien, who has conducted an investigation into the prisoner's past life.

It was announced that Swoboda would be freed from Sainte Prison as the Julien report had been indorsed. Swoboda was arrested as he was leaving the line, Touraine, on which he was traveling from the United States to France.

Gulf Storm Still Raging.
By Telegraph to The Freeman.
New Orleans, Sept. 29.—The tropical storm which has been moving northward through the Gulf of Mexico for the past four days, was centered this morning near the mouth of the Mississippi river. The barometer has fallen to 49.73. New Orleans is 120 miles from the mouth of the Mississippi and no danger is anticipated.

French Estimate of German Losses.
By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Paris, Sept. 29.—German losses in Artois and the Champagne region up to date were officially estimated at 120,000 men here today. These figures are based upon the prisoners taken by the allies and the number of German wounded and dead found upon the field where the French and British made their recent gains.

Japan Not Asked For Troops.
By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Petrograd, Sept. 29.—A semi-official statement denying rumors that Russia had asked Japan to send troops to Europe was issued today. Only Japan's assistance in the manufacture of munitions was requested, it adds.

RECIPROCITY

GOOD and bad are alike reciprocal. In other words, the good we give out echoes back to us, just as surely as the harm one does another returns and strikes back with equal viciousness.

So, here we see how simple, after all, is the problem of HOW TO LIVE, and, moreover, this is apparent: that self-interest is the only rational basis on which to teach morals or right-living.

It may be years before all minds, sincerely prejudiced or otherwise, will recognize our

PRACTICAL ARITHMETIC.

Problems in Arithmetic that Farmer Boys Ought to Do.

In the current issue of Farm and Fireside, the national farm paper published in Springfield, Ohio, appears the following amusing and sensible contribution:

"Professor Gentry of the state normal school, Springfield, Missouri, offers some original ideas as to the kind of problems that country-school arithmetic should contain. Here are a few:

"A farm wagon if given shelter when not in use will last for about fifteen years. When put in shelter it will last half as long. What is the average annual loss on a $55 wagon that stands out in the open?"

"A kitchen that is poorly arranged requires a mother take one hundred steps more a day in preparing meals than she would in a well-arranged kitchen. How many unnecessary steps does she take in a year? How many miles is this, allowing 20 inches to the step?"

"If a quail in the course of a year eats 25 cents' worth of grain and destroys two dollars' worth of harmful insects and weed seeds, how much has a farmer injured himself by killing this pair of quail?"

"Rather more sensible isn't it?—than calculations as to the weight of the pyramids of Egypt, or the distance reached below the water line of an iceberg that sticks up a hundred feet into the air?"

"When I wrote you for a sample of IMPERIAL GRANUM, baby was very sick. She was getting her teeth and nothing would stay on her stomach. Everything I gave her she vomited, and her bowels were in a very bad condition. Since I have been giving her IMPERIAL GRANUM, she is getting along finely, and I would not be without it. I told my doctor I was giving my baby IMPERIAL GRANUM, and he said I could not give it anything better. Your food has improved the baby wonderfully."

Message No. 6

A young doctor, making a start in a small town, decided that to be prosperous he must look prosperous. He bought a new buggy and two good horses. Although he had only a few patients he always kept on the jump, attending to his patients' smallest needs. People began to notice this young doctor driving about town and they called him because he looked busy and prosperous. He got his start—a start that led to a comfortable practice.

A town, like this doctor, must look prosperous to be prosperous. Clean streets, attractive store windows, well-painted buildings and dwellings give the prosperous air. Well-painted buildings are greatest of these.

GREAT FOOTBALL GAME SATURDAY

On Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at Athletic Field one of the best football games of the season in this city will be seen. The strong K. A. team will line up against the Albany High School. The latter is said to be the best in this section of the state. The price has been fixed at 15 cents for everybody. The line-up of the local gridiron warriors is not entirely completed as yet but K. A. will present a strong defensive team if the playing in practice of late is to be any criterion. The back field will doubtless be made up of Captain Wheeler, Pehleman, Terwilliger, Ryan, Gregory and Joice, but the final arrangement of the players is not definitely decided upon. At ends will be either John-son, Joyce, Pehleman or Sullivan. There is rivalry also for center between Dumond and Pehleman. For tackles and guards there are some candidates including Bernstein, Campbell, Dumond, Palist, Relyea, Sullivan while others are not so far behind as to stand a chance of making the team for this important game. The Albany high is said to be one of the best in this section of the state. A large squad is out on the gridiron every night here looking for a chance to make the team and there is likelihood that some others will be given a chance to work in this important game. At least twenty-five men report for practice every night and second and even third teams are chosen. Some of the younger number is being trained for next year's team or the following year. Albany will come here with a heavy line but K. A. will depend on the speed of its back field to make gains rather than on weight.

MISS FRANCES SEITZ

NEW DEPUTY SHERIFF IS CRACK
PISTOL SHOT AND "TOES" RE-VOLVER.

Miss Frances Seitz, Patchogue, L. I., Sept. 29.—Gun toting sheriffs of the wild and woolly west have a rival in Miss Frances Seitz, truant officer of Patchogue, who has just been appointed deputy sheriff of Suffolk county. Miss Seitz is a crack revolver shot, and she carries her gun with her. Between rounding up "hooker" players from the school and assisting Sheriff Odell, she is quite busy, but manages to snatch a few hours each day to act as society editor on a local paper.

Sheriff Odell declares that the little five foot miss, who weighs but ninety pounds is one of the most courageous and dependable aides he has.

Suffrage Activity in Port Ewen.

A number of representative people met at Mrs. McCormack's, Monday evening, to discuss plans to awaken further interest in Woman's Suffrage in Port Ewen. An agreeable, profitable time was spent. An out of door meeting will be held this week of which due announcement will be made.

AUTOMOBILES BLOCK FIRE APPARATUS

Commissioners Call Attention to the Way Pair Street Fire Station is Blocked—No New Fire Alarm Boxes.

No new fire alarm boxes can be installed in Kingston until a practically new fire alarm system has been installed according to the report of the committee made on Tuesday evening at the regular monthly meeting of the board of fire commissioners held at the central fire station. The board also decided to call attention to the common council to the practice of automobile owners of parking their machines on Pair street between the Wilkwyck Hose Company house and John street and asking the city fathers if something could not be done to abolish that practice, as it made it difficult and dangerous for the fire company to respond to a fire alarm.

The question of installing new fire alarm boxes came up when two resolutions recently passed by the common council asking the fire board to install a new box at the corner of Clifton avenue and Stephen street and another at the corner of Green street and Lucas avenue were referred to a committee of which Commissioner W. S. Eltinge is chairman and they made an extensive report in writing asking that the request be denied and giving the reasons for the board doing so. The board adopted the report.

The committee reported that it had thoroughly investigated the matter and felt that both localities needed fire alarm boxes as well as three other locations making five new boxes that are needed. Notwithstanding the apparent necessity the committee do not see how the request can be granted with the present system as it would not stand the additional overload, and request that the applications be denied.

The report states that the present fire alarm system consists of four circuits with a total of 70 boxes having 29 miles of wire of which only 5 miles are in underground conduits. Each circuit covers one quarter of the city and all the circuits are greatly overloaded and the committee before it would feel safe or justified in recommending the installation of these two boxes asked for as well as the three others that are needed would request the board to consider the installation of practically an entire new system to be placed in new fire proof building in the vicinity of the central fire station and all outside wiring to be rebuilt and placed in conduits wherever feasible. The committee stated it has secured several estimates and is prepared to do this as soon as funds are available. Included in the report is a statement showing how each of the four circuits is carrying as large a load at the present time as the committee deemed safe.

Under the direction of the fire board a count has been kept of the number of automobiles parked on Pair street during the early part of the month. This showed that from 7 o'clock to 10 o'clock each evening there were as high as forty automobiles parked on both sides of the street which left but a narrow space for the fire truck to pass through when responding to a fire alarm and it was the opinion of the board that there was liable to be a serious accident at any time and that the automobile owners should not be allowed to park on that street. This question will be taken up with the common council to see if something cannot be done to abolish the practice.

Superintendent Eltinge of the fire alarm system made application to the board to use the spare police wire on West Chester street and the board will ask the police board for permission.

The application of Joseph A. Radel of Rescue Hook & Ladder Company, No. 1, for an exempt fireman's certificate was granted by the board.

The election of Clarence A. Ryan of East Union street and John Crosby of No. 41 Hanratty street, as members of Cordis Hose Company was approved by the board.

Captain B. J. Hornbeck, clerk of the board, reported a balance on hand of $6,493.50.

Other routine business was transacted and the board then adjourned.

How to Arrange House Furnishings.

System, order, classification and common sense should be taken by the housewife as the basis of the arrangement of all furnishings in the home from the furniture in the living room to the contents of the jelly closet, according to a publication entitled "The Arrangement of Household Furnishings," issued by the New York State College of Agriculture at Cornell. The arrangement of objects in a room, it is stated, should follow, repeat or fit the structural outlines of the space used. For example a piano, table, or sofa should not be placed diagonally across the corner of a room, but parallel with the length or the breadth of the room. This arrangement not only assures an orderly and restful repeat of the structure lines of the room, but prevents a waste of space, and a place for dust to accumulate. The principle is illustrated by diagrams. A long, narrow room may be made to appear better proportioned by placing furniture, especially rather large pieces, across the ends of the room.

Objects should be massed or grouped, not scattered over a space. For instance the circular states that vases, ribbons, and flowers are strewn over a dinner table when the table would be much more attractive if the decorations were massed or grouped so as to be surrounded and set off by the plain cloth. Plain space around an object draws attention to it and enhances its good qualities.

Any resident of the state of New York may obtain this publication by applying to the State College of Agriculture, at Cornell University, Ithaca, N. Y.

You are not the sort of man to expect your wife to go along year after year with no better conveniences in the kitchen than your grandmother had. You bet you do, and you expect right along too. Listen, men! Is it fair to the wife to let her get along with old-fashioned woman-killing household equipment when you can have one of these new Hoosiers delivered tomorrow for only $22. Of course not. You mean all right. You would like to have a convenient kitchen.

3 Square Meals a Day

Just hand us a Dollar

We will put one of these five new Hoosiers in your home at a price so low you will think we are cheating ourselves. The Hoosier Company let us make these prices this week to introduce these new models. Exempt from all taxation in Germany
At $210 for each 1,000 Mark equal to $4

LESS INTEREST TO APRIL 1ST, 1916—$4.75—$205.25 NET. DELIVERED FREE OF ALL EXPENSE IN ANY PART OF THE UNITED STATES.

Interest payable April and October.

Coupons will be cashed, free of expense, at our office 10 days prior to maturity.

This issue will be listed on all the German Exchanges and after the War, at other European Financial Centers. Purchasers will be able to dispose of same at any time through our house. Owing to the present low rate of German Exchange these bonds yield a very high interest return, which together with the quality of the bonds themselves, should be a recommendation to the careful investor.

The above price is subject to change owing to possible fluctuations in Exchange on Germany.

On receipt of New York funds either by check or Money Order, delivery will be made in the form of our temporary receipt, exchangeable for the definitive bonds upon their arrival from Europe.

The normal rate of German Exchange is $4, the rate to-day is $4, the difference being 11%. Before the War, German 5% Bonds were selling at 101. Upon this basis, when normal conditions return, the present issue should sell in the neighborhood of 110%, which together with the profit in Exchange would give a yield of about 8% per annum on the investment.

Fall Opening

The cycle of season and style swings round once more, ushering in those swirling windy days so characteristic of robust autumn. The soft languorous summer days are gone and summer costumes with their airy lightness are strangely out of place in the setting of the strong ruddy colors with which nature has painted Old Mother Earth. Eagerly we seek costumes in harmony with the season and with the urgings of our own sense of the fitness of things.

This was the quest upon which the buyers of this store set out. The markets of the country were scanned and their offerings carefully considered—and always we bore in mind that our purchases must bear three attributes—quality, the best—style, not only correct but bearing those characteristics that make for permanency in style—and lastly that the price be such as could only be found by careful, continuous and discriminating search.

Today, as a result of this expert shopping, the store is a veritable show place of the new Fashions for Fall—a monument to the artistic conception of many designers and to the skilled handiwork of thousands of nimble fingered workers in many lands.

You will want to be posted on the styles that the fashion centers of the world have pronounced correct. You will want to see them, to admire, to criticise—perhaps to buy. We shall be very glad to show you, to explain to you and to assist you in any manner that we may to the end that your Fall wardrobe may be correct in every detail.

WAR LOAN TERMS HAVE BEEN SETTLED

Terms of allies war loan:

Term—Five years.

Interest—5 per cent.

Price to investors—98.

Net yield to investors, approximately—5 1/2 per cent.

Denomination of bonds, from $100 up.

Convertible terms of bonds—At and of five years holders may convert them into French or English government bonds, maturing in from 15 to 25 years, with 4 1/2 per cent interest.

Purpose of loan—Stabilization of exchange rates on British and French money.

Security—French and British governments accept loan as joint obligation taking priority over other debts.

By Telegram to The Freeman

New York, Sept. 29.—Representatives of England and France came to the United States seeking a billion dollar loan and they got a loan the ultimate net value of which will be

$355,000,000 when the premiums and interest are paid.

Following the formal announcement of the Anglo-French credit commission that a war loan, the nominal size of which is $500,000,000, has been secured, the work preliminary to putting the bonds upon the market was begun today by a syndicate headed by J. P. Morgan.

This is not a loan for capitalists exclusively. The people's money will be solicited. J. P. Morgan and Company announce that the bonds will be issued in denominations as low as $100, payable in installments.

Bankers declare that the money market will not be disturbed by the loan and that the rates of exchange of pounds sterling and francs will be stabilized.

Money subscribed to the loan will be kept in American banks to be checked against by the French and British governments.

Russia will not participate, but no bar has been placed upon the expenditure of the money for arms and ammunition as well as for clothing, grain and other necessities.

Every effort is being made by the allied governments to make the loan popular in this country. The desire to stimulate interest in the west was one of the reasons that Baron Reading and other members of the credit commission went to Chicago. The commissioners also made a concession in granting premiums which will make the bonds yield investors about 5 1/2 per cent. At first they declared that could not pay more than 5 per cent to the buyers of the bonds.

Special efforts will be made to place the "baby bond" of $100 denomination among small investors throughout the country. Formal notification has been made that they will be free of all taxes in both England and France.

This is the first external loan placed by the allies since the war began, but the efforts made to popularize this one indicates that, if the war goes another year, the allies will be seeking more money here in the meantime.

Headquarters for the financial operations involved in the loan will be in this city.

If, at the end of five years the holders of the bonds wish they can convert them into French and British government bonds, paying 4 1/2 per cent. These 4 1/2 per cent bonds will be payable in from 15 to 25 years.

Bankers interested in the loan declare that there is no question about the security. The British and French governments have jointly obligated themselves, and thus all the national resources of both Great Britain and France may be said to be the collateral offered.

The bonds will be listed upon the

New York Stock Exchange. This will probably be done within the next fortnight.

Committees will be formed by bankers throughout the country to float the loan. These committees will probably be formed in Boston,

Philadelphia, Chicago, St. Louis,

Denver, San Francisco and other cities. At this time the greatest interest in the loan prevails in this east. One national bank in this city is said to have received requests for

For the Children

Baby Zebra and Mother in Central Park (New York) Zoo.

New York city is the proud possessor of two zoological gardens, one in Central park and the other in Bronx park. The latter is the larger and is said to be one of the finest institutions of its kind in the world. Central park zoo is much smaller, but still it contains a number of specimens of rare animals. In one respect Central park zoo leads. It now has a baby zebra, said to be the first of its species born in captivity in this country. The picture shows the little fellow being fondled by his mother. The youngster is a finely marked specimen of his race and is as frisky as a young colt. William Snyder, head keeper of the zoo, will soon have the little fellow christened with appropriate ceremonies.

The Quaker Penguins.

Sir Ernest Shackleton, who led the British antarctic expedition which so nearly reached the south pole, tells amusing anecdotes of the penguins, that, when standing upright, look from a distance like a lot of dignified gentlemen in black coats and white waistcoats, and many a time shipwrecked castaways in the southern hemisphere, approaching some desolate coast, have imagined the distant penguins sitting upright upon a rocky shore to be human beings. Sir Ernest tells that one day a big penguin strolled into camp and saw one of the shaggy dogs. Mr. Penguin stared and stared and came closer to see what manner of beast this might be, until the dog snapped playfully at the bird's funny short legs. Next day the penguin came again to camp with a personally conducted party of penguins, apparently to show them the dog. They came often after this, and the explorers amused themselves by occasionally giving them a concert with the phonograph, to whose music the birds bobbed around in a circle with much apparent pleasure. About fifteen species are known. The king penguins are the largest. They exist in colonies of many thousands.—Farm Journal.

A Paste Pot Party.

Did you ever give a paste pot party? You'll need some old magazines and a pair of shears, as well as a blank book in which to paste pictures. You can make the blank book yourself from pieces of plain, smooth paper, and, in fact, each little guest might enjoy making such a book for herself or himself. Sick children always like to look at scrap books, and so you might send the ones you make at the party to a hospital after you have finished with them. A set of cut out paper dolls should be given each child to carry home as a souvenir of the occasion.

Origin of a Word.

The origin of "windfall" in the sense of good luck dates back to the time of William the Conqueror. It was then a criminal offense to cut timber in the forests. Only such could be gathered as the wind had blown down; hence a heavy windstorm was hailed by the peasants as so much good luck, and from this we get the term.

Scarecrow and Snow Man.

The scarecrow was chasing the snow man. He it was a dream at all. For I saw them as plain as daylight From the top of our garden wall.

There were miles and miles between them. Or months, perhaps I should say. For the snow man passed in December And the scarecrow passed in May.

The chase was very exciting. As on and on they whirled. But they came no nearer together. For I followed them round the world.

But the winds blew hard on the scare-crow. And he found no place to hide. They tore him to rags and tatters And scattered him far and wide.

And the sun beat down on the snow man. In his garments of dirty white. I saw him grow smaller and smaller Till he vanished quite out of sight.

But each year the chase is repeated: You can see it as well as I. If you live near my father's garden And watch while they're passing by.

IT AUTO BUT DIDN'T.

A Swift Delivery Plan That Did Not Come to Pass.

"What we need is an auto truck so that we can make quick deliveries," remarked one of our local young men the other day to his brother. Both are engaged in business and are hustlers, but what they did not know about an automobile would fill several large volumes, otherwise this would not have come to be written.

"Yes," agreed the other, "but what we want is some good second hand car. We don't need to invest in a new machine to do the work."

That settled it and the hunt for the second hand car in which to make deliveries started.

Some time later one brother ran across what he said was a bargain, and the other agreed after he had looked the car over. The machine was not a late model, neither was it one of the first machines placed on the market.

After some dicker the brothers invested and one brother who thought he knew something about running an automobile, as he had ridden in one once upon a time, was delegated to bring the car home.

The brother ran the car about a block. It was later towed back to the garage.

After giving it a thorough overhauling both brothers next day took up the job of getting the machine home. What happened the first day was a mystery to them. They again started and got as far as two blocks when the car again stalled.

What is the use of going into all of the harrowing details. They finally got the machine home.

That evening they determined to give the car a thorough testing out as they were not convinced that they had been "stuck." A bargain is a bargain and they got a "bargain." After some trouble they ran the car out onto the street and started gaily away. They covered fully twenty feet before the car stopped.

One brother got out and looked over the machinery and under the car and then got in. Throwing on the juice they again started. Then the other brother got out and climbed under the car.

By this time the infernal chug chugging, for the engine did not stop running if the car did, attracted considerable attention and here and there heads stuck out of windows and doors in an effort to ascertain who was getting shot.

Again what is the use of going into the thrilling details. They finally got the second hand auto truck back in the garage where it peacefully reposed for several days until the brothers had digested the contents of several catalogues and instruction books.

They then tried it again. What? Why the car.

This time they had better success and the car ran at varying speeds for some distance. The term "varying speeds" is used advisedly. The car would first run at full speed and then evidently becoming tired would slow down.

This added to the variety and spice of driving the car for neither one of the brothers could tell just what the car would do next.

Finally traveling first at the rate of fifteen miles an hour, for that was the fastest the machine could travel, and then slowing down to a halt a mere an hour the brothers finally drove some distance beyond the city line, and also where habitations were far and few between.

Then the car slowed down to a quarter of a mile an hour and then it stopped.

First one brother got out and got under the car and then hopped in while the other brother with anticipation shining in his eyes, applied the power, and then the other brother tried his luck.

But the car still refused to move. Each brother then consulted his own private instruction book, and then one looked in the gasoline tank. It had not been replenished since they had purchased the bargain, and of course it was empty.

Again why go into details. The car was towed home and has not been exercised since.

The moral, if there is any, to this tale might be "Never buy a second hand car until you are sure it will run and you can run it."

METACAHONTS.

Metacahonts, Sept. 29.—The G. A. R. Club party which was given last Wednesday evening at the school house passed off fine under the auspices of the club girls. The sum of $12.58 was netted the club. They now have the $50 for the room in the hospital. Much credit is due the club girls who have worked so well ever since the club was organized last November. They dressed ten dolls for the home at Kingston, have bought a fine carpet for the stage, raised $50 for the hospital room and have over $5 in their treasury for future needs.

Friends in this place were sorry to hear of the illness of Mrs. John B. Rider of Whitfield. All hope she will speedily get better. Her daughter from this place, Mrs. Ben Quick, is helping in the care of her.

BACK TO THE LANDS.

Kind of People Who Go Back to the Farm.

In the current issue of Farm and Fireside appears the following interesting account of the kind of people who go back to the farms:

"The Government asked about 45,000 crop correspondents some time ago to find out the history of the city folks who went back to the farm. Here are the main classes:

"1. Small tradesmen who gave up a hopeless struggle in an overdone retail business and seek in the country a small farm where the cost of living is cheaper and where a more independent existence can be maintained.

"2. Merchants who failed in business and who seek the farm to escape the mischances of employment.

"3. Mechanics, school teachers, tailors, clerks, and sawmill men who seek agriculture as preferable to uncertain business and employment.

"It is infrequent for a city-born man to become a farmer. Usually the men who give up city occupations to return to the farm lived on farms in boyhood.

"A large part of those who return are farmers' sons who have been lured from the farm by the false promise of high wages but who subsequently learn that the cost of living in the city is high and that the money rate of wages in the city is deceptive. These young men often return when they find they have made no headway in the city. Retired farmers, also, who moved to town with the expectation of spending the rest of their lives there have in many cases found town life short of their expectations and have returned to farms.

"Lastly, there are the agricultural colonies made up to a large extent of foreigners who had formerly been farmers in their native country and who welcome opportunity to colonize on farms.

The Interior Quality of Market Eggs.

The quality of eggs depends not altogether upon the length of time they have been kept, but quite as much upon the condition to which they have been subjected between the time of laying and of their final use. Moreover, the quality of an egg may be affected to some extent by the foods eaten by the hen which lays it, and possibly by the season of the year when it is laid.

All these points and many others are discussed in a bulletin on the interior quality of market eggs, issued by the Cornell Agricultural Experiment Station, which explains the processes of egg production and the structure of the normal egg. It tells also how the interior quality of market eggs may be studied and advocates candling as the best method. It gives directions for candling and instructions for making candling devices.

Careful experiments indicate that the foods eaten by hens may affect egg quality. For example, green foods and yellow corn seem to cause a deep color in the yolk, while the use of white corn, wheat, and buckwheat results in pale yolks. Birds on free range lay eggs that have more color than those from hens kept yarded without exercise. Excessive amounts of green food are thought to produce eggs of marked odor and flavor; onions and cabbage having a direct influence in this respect.

The season of the year may also have its effect; those eggs produced in summer seem to have a more watery albumen, or white, than produced in winter. These watery eggs are likely to be of lower quality, and are therefore, less desirable for cold storage or long holding.

The care of the eggs themselves after their production has much to do with their keeping quality, according to the bulletin. Evaporation of the water in the egg through the pores of the shell should be prevented as far as possible. A proper temperature and a proper degree of moisture should be provided. Bacterial infection and rough handling should be guarded against.

Besides cold storage, eggs may be preserved by various methods. The best of these as stated in the bulletin, are by lime-water and salt solution and by water-glass solution. In some cases cracked and broken eggs are dried or frozen, and in this condition they have been satisfactorily used for cooking.

An unusual feature of the bulletin is its color plates, of which there are seven, showing the candling appearance and the opened appearance of eggs of different quality and at various stages. These illustrations were all made from actual specimens, the egg illustrating each condition being typical of a large lot.

The bulletin may be obtained by residents of New York state on application to the College of Agriculture, Ithaca, New York.

Heat is the soul of a house!

Quick-coming Winter is to be a dread or a delight—depends upon whether you "put-it-off-again" or adopt ideal heating. Old-fashioned heating causes more worry and arguing than any single factor of the home. Why therefore vex through another seven months of weak and wasteful old-time heating? Why be at the mercy of the weather, with shut-off rooms, drafty floors, frigid halls and bays? A house is changed into a home, a soul is put into the dwelling by the flood of mellow warmth guaranteed to you only by the use of Don't again bring out the old heater and make the elements chortle!

AMERICAN & IDEAL RADIATORS & BOILERS

have invariably proved more economical than the heaters they replaced—often reducing the fuel-bills one half, besides the far greater ease in operation, absence of repair bills, vastly greater household cleanliness and avoidance of fire risks.

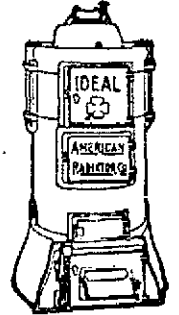

A No. 2118 IDEAL Boiler and 270 sq. ft. of 38-in. AMERICAN Radiators, costing the owner $140, were used to heat this cottage. At this price the goods can be bought of any reputable, competent fitter. This did not include cost of labor, pipes, valves, freight, etc., which are extra and vary according to climate and other conditions.

That is why IDEAL-AMERICAN outfits are an investment, not an expense. You must know they bring 10 to 15% higher rental, or property sells quicker at price to fully cover cost.

It should be understood that the name IDEAL applies to a group of Boilers—changed in form to suit exactly the perfect burning of different kinds and grades of hard and soft coal, (screenings, pea, buckwheat, etc.) coke, lignite, wood, oil, gas, etc. Hence it is not to our interest to urge the sale of an "all around" or "straddle" Boiler which may or may not do the work, but rather to assist the building owner to select the type and size of IDEAL Boiler which will give him complete satisfaction and be best adapted to burn the fuel most cheaply available in his locality. And to burn the least amount of it, and with least care-taking!

Don't this Fall set up again the old stove, but put in an IDEAL-AMERICAN outfit and enjoy winters of solid heating comfort and reliable ventilation, every room and corner "warm as toast," without heater dirt or drudgery to ruin the housewife's disposition and the household furnishings. Call up your dealer and ask for estimate. Ask for book (free): "Ideal Heating"—full of big facts you ought to know. Does not obligate you in the least to buy. Put the soul of genial, vital-giving radiator warmth into your country or city cottage by looking us up today.

IDEAL Boilers are safer and easier to run than stoves. Accept no substitute.

of Allaben made an automobile trip to Arena, Delaware county, last Saturday.

George H. Gulnick has rented his cottage for the winter months to Mr. Patch, who is employed at the Fulton Chair Co., at Shandaken.

Ralph Van Keuren has returned to his home, after two weeks visiting in New York city and Kingston.

Mrs. David Miles of New York city is a guest of Mrs. M. E. Weber at the Twin Brooks Cottage.

Miss Anna Nelson of Hillcrest Cottage just returned from a trip to New York.

Thomas Osterhoudt has gone on a vacation of ten days. Expects to visit New Haven, Conn., and various other places.

Elmer Haynes has been quite sick with an attack of rheumatism.

Miss Beulah Gulnick has returned from a visit at Kingston and Alligerville.

FLATBUSH.

Flatbush, Sept. 29.—Miss Anna Pelham of Kingston has been the guest of her uncle A. J. Myer.

Mrs. Irene Swart is visiting friends in Kingston.

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Pearson spent the week end with their daughter, Mrs. Louis Long, at Zena.

The Holland supper given last week for the benefit of the church proved a success in every way.

Frank Falk is confined to the house with tonsillitis sore throat.

Miss Annabel Pearson, who is teaching school at Woodstock, spent the week end with her parents here.

Benjamin Osterhoudt met with what might have been a fatal accident last week in Kingston, where he was run down by an automobile owned by a man from Ellenville.

As he was crossing North Front street from Wall street, Mr. Osterhoudt stopped on the cross walk to allow a large auto to go by, when this five passenger Ford came around the corner and when he saw it, it had to strike him, as the driver did not put on the brakes, with rare presence of mind he grabbed the front of the car, as it struck him, his legs going under the car. The driver admitted he lost his head and did not apply the brakes even then, the car dragging Mr. Osterhoudt several feet, when his hold slipped, the car going over him. He was taken to the office of Dr. Follette, who said he was only bruised about the ribs and legs, but on a careful examination the next day by Dr. Gifford of Saugerties he found the lower right ribs were torn loose from the sternum, and badly bruised, also shoulder, arm and leg, and has been unable to do anything since. Such accidents are getting to be a common occurrence around town, and it would seem as if all drivers of automobiles would realize that pedestrians have the same right to street crossing as they have, and run carefully at such places.

Mrs. Walter Wood, Mrs. L. Shipman and the Misses Mabel, Elsie and Hattie Shipman enjoyed the excursion last Friday to Albany from Kingston on the Albany.

Mr. Zahn is quite ill at his home, and under the care of Dr. Delding of Saugerties.

MONTEOMA.

Montoma, Sept. 29.—A number of people of this place attended the fair at Oneonta last week.

The Misses Lulu and Kathryn DeGraft and Inez Yerry, who have been employed at Springtown the past summer, have returned home.

BOY SCOUTS MAKE PLANS FOR WINTER

Troops 1 and 2 of the Boy Scouts met at the Holy Cross parish house on Pine Grove avenue Tuesday night to organize their work for the fall and winter. Twenty members of the troops were present and displayed an amount of enthusiasm which was quite satisfactory to Scoutmaster Gruber and indicated that the work planned will be carried through to a successful conclusion.

A talk by one of the members of the new advisory council reviewing Sir Robert Baden-Powell's book on the Boy Scouts was given to the scouts present and is presented herewith for the benefit of members of other troops of scouts.

Many of the Boy Scouts have little time for reading because of their studies in winter, so I have taken this occasion to bring out the fine points in the book, "Boy Scouts Beyond the Seas," written by Sir Robert Baden-Powell, who is head of the Boy Scouts of England.

This book tells of his travels among the scouts throughout the United States, Panama, Canada, Japan, China, Norway, Sweden, Denmark, Holland, Belgium and Australia.

Arriving at Panama, he noticed the difference in uniform—"instead of shorts and stockings, they wore breeches and canvas gaiters." There are nine troops between Colon and Panama composed mostly of American boys, whose fathers are building the Panama canal. From there he visits the West Indies and speaks of the two troops in Kingston, Jamaica.

He was met at the quayside in New York city by a troop of scouts with both American and British flags. They gave him a hearty welcome and handed a greeting from the Boy Scouts of America. Over 4,000 scouts attended a rally and gave demonstrations in bridge building, first aid, knot tying with hawsers, wireless and signaling. He misses here the interesting displays of pioneer and life saving work and hopes that they may replace some of the drilling we give our boys. The author also states that English boys are more respectful and better behaved, which is probably the reason we have to use more military training to offset this difference. I also wish to note that the author states that the American boy is sharper than the British boy and knows more for his age and has better chances of learning woodcraft than the boys of England, but at the same time the Britisher sticks better to his work, doing it at a run while our boy is more leisurely. Says he, "The American scouts are jolly, keen, sharp fellows, and my word, they can cheer."

An interesting point he also found in New York was an entire troop of Chinese boys, one of negroes and another composed of one-half blind boys, the other half who could see, acting as leader and comrade to a blind boy.

In Boston a parade of 1,000 gave demonstrations in Drill Hall of first aid, signalling, sea scouts routine and drill. The British flag was given a general salute, thus our boys showed their friendship for their brothers scouts in Britain.

The author was received in Washington by President Taft and the British ambassador. There about 500 scouts paraded and gave demonstrations in signalling, first aid, bandaging, also wireless telegraphy and fire fighting.

At Detroit they had a joint meeting of some Canadian and Detroit scouts.

Chicago impressed Sir Baden-Powell greatly. There are 5,000 scouts in that city.

The Buffalo boys exhibited a portable wireless telegraph mounted on hand cart, 90 per cent of the apparatus having been made by themselves and they also gave a demonstration of dragging an insensible person away from fire or out of gas fumes by tying a handkerchief over his nose and his mouth, then laying the person on his back and tying his wrists together, putting his head through the arms and crawling on all fours dragging the person with him.

In Louisville, a troop of blind scouts drilled to music played by their own blind band. They also exhibited basket work, carpentering, raised map making, sewing and type-writing.

In Minneapolis 1,500 Boy Scouts were inspected and a demonstration of making and cooking flapjacks was given which greatly interested Sir Baden-Powell. He speaks again of fire lighting without matches and archery by boys who had made their own bows and arrows.

At Denver he finds again a scout who had made a wireless apparatus, the parts of which had cost 15 shillings. ($3.60).

At Portland, Socialists protested against the boys being made into soldiers, but were convinced that it was only training the boys for better woodsmen and life savers.

Aside from the scout notes I have made the book contains a wealth of historical and geographical knowledge written simply and in an entertaining manner.

PORT EWEN GETS NO TELEGRAPH

By Telegraph to The Freeman. Albany, Sept. 29.—The up-state public service commission has refused to make a ruling which condemns the telephone as a means for transmitting telegrams. In refusing to order the Western Union to restore its operator in the village of Port Ewen, Ulster county, where it substituted a system of telephoning messages to the Kingston office an opinion by Commissioner Emmet says:

"It is possible, of course, when the telephone is employed as a means of forwarding messages for eventual telegraphic transmission that occasional mistakes will occur, still the telephone is now so universally used in this way that we would hesitate to make a ruling which in effect condemned a method of handling telegrams so useful, convenient and satisfactory to the public as on the whole this one seems to be. The real situation seems to be that the inhabitants of Port Ewen, a small unincorporated community, somewhat remote from any great center of population, are today enjoying telegraphic facilities practically similar in every respect to those that exist in New York and other large cities."

Port Ewen still has a telegraph station at the West Shore station a mile away. Mr. Emmet points out, where those who object to the telephoning of their messages may file them. The complaint was brought by Charles W. Card, formerly the Western Union operator in Port Ewen and other residents, but while they insisted on the liability of mistakes in telephonic transmission of messages they failed to adduce any actual instances. The telegrams are now written out and filed at the Western Union branch in the village and telephoned to the Kingston office.

New Paltz Grange Exhibit.

Saturday night the Grange of New Paltz will hold its annual exhibit of vegetables, fruit, home made cake, pie, bread, ducks and chickens, and in fact all farm produce. It will be held in New Paltz and at 8:30 o'clock all the articles will be auctioned off to the highest bidder.

Ponckhockie Union Sunday School. On Wednesday evening, October 6, the ladies of the Ponckhockie Union Sunday school will give a clam pie supper, the proceeds to be used for repairing the church. Hope all will show an interest by attending the supper and respond cheerfully to help the good cause.

Glenwood Coal Ranges, Gas Ranges, Furnaces and Heaters, awarded Two Gold Medals, at the Panama-Pacific International Exposition, San Francisco, Cal., 1915.

Glenwood Ranges are the product of New England's largest and best known foundry. They are designed by makers of life-long experience. They weigh more, are put together better and burn less fuel than most ranges. The castings are wonderfully smooth and easy to keep clean.

They are handsome, convenient and mechanically right—no modern feature lacking. Smooth cast, Colonial design, plain finish, compact structure, big roomy ovens, easy working grates and countless other features. Owing to their sturdy construction and fine workmanship, they will stand hard usage, do better work and last much longer than the ordinary kind.

They certainly do "Make Cooking and Baking Easy". Get one and make housekeeping drudgeryless.

CITY'S APPEAL FROM DAVIS AWARD

The appeal by the city of New York from the order confirming the report of Ashokan Business Damage Commission No. 3, awarding $2,000 to Benjamin O. Davis for indirect damages to his farm at Krumville, was argued before the appellate division of the supreme court at Saratoga on Tuesday by William A. M. Speer for the city of New York and by Harrison T. Slosson for Mr. Davis.

Mr. Davis's farm contains 199 acres, of which 75 acres are tillable before the construction of the Ashokan reservoir, the nearest railroad station to Mr. Davis's farm was at Brodheads, on the Ulster & Delaware railroad, a distance of six miles. His nearest stations since the reservoir was constructed and the railroad removed is Ashokan, which is about ten miles, and High Falls on the New York, Ontario & Western railroad, which is about the same distance. One of the witnesses for the claimant testified that the farm was worth $13,000 on June 1, 1906, and $8,000 on September 1, 1913.

According to Mr. Davis's claim, his farm has been damaged by the change in physical conditions whereby the distance from the farm to the nearest railroad station has been increased, causing a longer and more expensive haul for produce sent to customers by railroad, and damage also has been caused by the removal of the pulp mill within the reservoir district, necessitating the hauling of wood to the pulp mill at Watkinsburg, which is a greater distance than before the reservoir construction. The increase in value of the timber growing on the land which was young timber and was allowed to grow instead of being cut down was more than offset, it is contended, by the increased distance to a pulp mill. It is claimed that the 800 cords of wood on the farm at the time the case was tried was worthless on that account, and that its growth during the period mentioned added nothing to the value of the land.

This is the first of the contested indirect damage cases to be appealed.

Ira Bump's Treasure

He Lost It, but Found Another.

By CLARISSA MACKIE

Ira Bump was head bookkeeper in a downtown wholesale house. He was a little, round, roly poly man with brown eyes and hair and a rosy complexion. He had money in the bank, he was always well dressed, he was unmarried, and he had boarded at Mrs. Hecker's for thirteen years.

Now, Ira Bump did not occupy the most expensive suite at Mrs. Hecker's, thoroughly respectable and unhome-like abode. On the contrary, he lived in the third floor back bedroom. It was a large room and quite comfortable, for Ira had added many luxuries from time to time, and it was $3 less per week than the best suite, and that $3 Ira placidly planted in the bank with his other savings. Some day when he had to make way for a younger man at the office he intended to retire to the country and raise chickens.

Among his fellow boarders Ira was looked upon as a "back number." Dapper young store clerks walked at each other when Ira came in and they were not above making jokes at his expense, all of which flew harmlessly over his smooth brown head.

The younger girls, stenographers and clerks, smiled kindly at him, and the older girls beamed upon him, for he was a possible escape from old maidenhood.

One day Ira read a story in a popular magazine a story that stirred his sluggish brain. It was about some pearl fishers in the south Pacific who fought to the death over a magnificent pearl found in an oyster shell by one of the divers.

After that Ira ordered raw oysters in addition to his usual lunch. He never ate the oysters, because he was afraid of bacilli, but he searched the shells carefully, hoping that some day he, too, might find a pearly treasure in one of the succulent bivalves.

And, lo, one day his fork struck a round object in the bottom of the plate of oysters! Carefully he picked it out and furtively slipped it into his vest pocket. He was so excited that he could not finish his coffee, and, grabbing his hat, he dashed back to the office.

There, alone at his desk, he pored over the milky, lustrous pearl that rolled around in his palm.

"It must be worth $5,000," he gloried as he wrapped it in tissue paper and hid it away. "I shall—I shall buy an automobile, I think."

That night when Ira Bump came into dinner he radiated with an air of prosperity. He wore a brand new suit of evening clothes and from the crown of his head to his patent leather shod feet he was unusually immaculate.

Evening clothes were a distinct novelty at Mrs. Hecker's table and Annie, the waitress, nervously dimmed Ira's sartorial glory by spilling soup upon him, but happily the blouse of tomato was diverted to the thick gray velvet coat sleeve of his next door neighbor, Denton, the hardware clerk.

Ira lent first aid to the wretched Denton, for he felt in a measure responsible for the mishap. He knew and every one else knew, for they had seen Annie's start of surprise, that it was the sight of Mr. Bump's new clothes which had caused the accident.

Like an invisible mantle, an air of elegance descended upon the table. People were unusually courteous to one another.

Everybody talked except Freda Lindsay. Perhaps it was the lone day spent in the schoolroom that was responsible for her unusual pallor, for the shadows under her sweet gray eyes and the sad droop to her mouth.

At any rate, Ira Bump was startled by her appearance and made a mental note that he must do something for Miss Lindsay. How delightful it was to be rich—richer than his friends and acquaintances—and hold the happiness of spring pleasure to others.

After dinner Ira paused to speak to Freda Lindsay. He felt very gay and exuberant in his new clothes. He felt actually reckless.

"You are looking ill, Miss Lindsay," he said solicitously. "You need a breath of fresh air after the day's close confinement. Wouldn't you like to take a little ride—on a motor ride in the park and then go to the theater afterward? It would give me much pleasure."

"Oh, Mr. Bump," she gasped, "I should be delighted! But" she glanced at his attire, "I haven't anything very splendid to wear."

"Pooh!" laughed Ira Bump easily. "What's the matter with that pink gown you used to wear last summer?" Freda blushed to think that he had remembered her rose pink robe of last summer. "I will put it on," she said hurriedly and went up to her room.

Mrs. Hecker's sitting room had been so empty at when Ira Bump and Freda Lindsay were becoming better acquainted. The change from the dull routine of their daily lives seemed to work miracles. In the sun of prosperity they expanded like stunted buds, and a flower of romance bloomed when they entered the theater.

The play was a romance, an old fashioned love story that set their hearts to beating to a new tune.

And when the motor sped them homeward Ira Bump opened his heart to Freda Lindsay. He told her about the pearl he had found and how a Maiden Lane jeweler had offered him $3,000 for it.

"I wanted to keep it overnight. I'm going to take it to him in the morning and collect the money," said Ira, laughing like a boy.

Freda thought it was all wonderful, just like a story book.

"I suppose you'll be leaving Mrs. Hecker's," she said wistfully.

"Not yet," said Ira.

"I am glad," said Freda simply.

"How glad are you?" he whispered boldly.

"Very glad," admitted Freda.

"I am thinking of buying a chicken farm. Do you like the country?" asked Ira.

"I'm a country girl. I'm a mist in the city," sighed Freda.

At that moment it entered Ira Bump's head that a chicken farm would be very lonesome and dull indeed if Freda Lindsay was not there with her sweet sympathetic smile and her quick appreciation of everything he said and did. It would be very pleasant to have a little wife to adore one—to buy pretty frocks for her, to have her waiting for him at the door.

Immediately Ira Bump proposed to Freda Lindsay. He discovered that she loved her.

Freda confessed that she loved the quiet bookkeeper, and so it happened that they returned Mrs. Hecker's from their elopement.

"I must buy you a ring," whispered Ira as they parted on the landing.

"What shall it be?"

"A pearl," said Ira softly.

When he was alone in his own room Ira sat down on the edge of the bed and reviewed the events of the past twelve hours.

He had seen the jeweler, and after learning the value of his find he had gone to the bank and drawn some money. He had bought the evening clothes—he had always wanted a suit—he had dared to ask Miss Lindsay to go with him, and now they were engaged, and all on account of the pearl.

He thrust his fingers in the pocket where he had put it wrapped in tissue paper.

It was not there—the pocket was empty.

Even then he did not guess the truth. He believed he had mistaken the pocket.

But one after another proved to be empty. His pulses leaped with fear as he frantically searched his clothes.

He searched the floor and the stairs and even the lower hall. His clothes were covered with lint and dust when at last he faced his disheveled reflection in his mirror and the horrible truth was forced upon him that he had lost the pearl!

Like Cinderella, he was shorn of his color. He felt the loss of the pearl as he went into his old routine of dullness, and his spirit rebelled. And there was Freda!

Ira Bump groaned aloud.

He had told Freda about the pearl, and he had given her to understand that he would buy a chicken farm with the proceeds. Now without the pearl he was not able to promise her very much.

He had decided it would take several years longer to save enough money from his salary, and while Freda was waiting some more fortunate fellow might come along and win her away.

"I've got to tell her," he said doggedly as he turned out his light.

Ira did not see Freda the next morning. He ate his breakfast hurriedly and hastened out to put in advertisement in the papers and to search the motorcar he had used the night before.

It was a very pale and determined looking little man who met Freda Lindsay outside the public school when the session was ended. Freda blushed when she saw him and put her hand in his arm with a sweet air of proprietorship.

"I didn't expect you," she faltered.

"I had to come," said Ira seriously.

"I've had a great blow, Freda."

"Tell me about it," she said quickly.

"I've lost the pearl," he said bluntly.

"Oh, I'm so sorry," she cried.

His heart throbbed faster as he felt her grasp tighten on his arm.

"Of course I haven't got much saved up," he confessed. "I thought some day I'd buy a chicken farm, but I couldn't just now, and it's only fair to you to say that I've got in the world is $1,500 in the bank. That is not much to offer you."

"You forget your self, Ira," she whispered. "You count for something."

"You mean it, Freda?" he gasped.

"But there won't be any farm, yet."

"We can take a little flat, and we can save. I'm a famous housekeeper," she smiled, "and we can be together."

"Yes," he said.

"Unless you'd rather—not," she said doubtfully.

Oh, my dear! he gripped her hand tightly—"I'm the happiest man in the world! Let us go and pick out the ring. Would you rather have a little diamond or—"

"Only a pearl will satisfy me," she said firmly. "It was that blessed pearl which brought us together."

Although Ira never recovered the lost pearl, he declares that he possesses a matchless jewel in his little wife.

SHORTENS THE HAUL.

By establishing good roads the highway becomes an inducement to the farmer to transport farm produce in motor trucks, which make possible more trips to market each day when the distance is not too great. It also has the economic effect of expanding the farming area from which a city may draw its produce. By thus drawing more lands into its garden area it increases the value of those lands and enlarges the supply of produce in the market. This exerts a twofold influence—first, by increasing the supply of produce in the market, and, second, by reducing the transportation cost. The logic may be explained as follows: To make a rough and soft road smooth and hard is the equivalent to reducing a railroad curve to a straight line—it shortens the haul—for distance may be shortened as well by hours and minutes as by miles—E. A. Jones, Pennsylvania.

AVOID GRADES IN ROADS.

By Relocating Many Old Highways Cost of Hauling Can Be Reduced. According to a government report the average life of horses and automobiles may be increased and the cost of hauling reduced by relocating many old roads, and the more scientific laying out of new ones. The natural tendency is to build a straight road whether it goes over steep grades or hills or not. Pulling over these grades naturally adds to the wear and tear on horses and vehicles.

The doctrine of the government is that the longest way around may often be the shortest and most economical.

AN UNNECESSARY GRADE.

When a road is built on a hill or grade but little appreciable distance is added and this is more than offset by the reduced strain of hauling.

The chief drawback from the farm owner's point of view is that the laying out of roads on this principle of avoiding grades necessitates in some cases running the road through good farm land or orchards or pastures instead of going around the farm line and building the road through old, worn-out fields and over rocky knolls. The individual landowner will naturally raise a question as to whether the cutting up of his property by a road will yield individual advantages and so benefit his community as to offset the use of such land for a road.

In this connection the government points out that the rounding of a road and the resulting traffic through a good farm, where there are good sheep, cattle, horses, grain, fruit or vegetables, has a certain advertising value and in many instances makes the land more valuable.

In other cases the importance of such a level road to the community is so great it might well repay those using the road to give the farmer the equivalent in land equally good in place of what he has sacrificed to the common welfare.

At any rate the government is now taking special pains to make clear the economic advantage of avoiding steep grades in roads, even at some sacrifice of better land. Investigation shows that the laying out of such roads over hills has resulted more from attention to the preservation of farm lines than from scientific attention to the problem of road building.

According to the testimony of farmers consulted where a horse might be able to pull 4,000 pounds on a level road it would be difficult in pulling 3,000 pounds up a steep hill. The size of the load, therefore, tends to be measured by the grade of the largest hill on the road to market.

In many cases a final experiment shows that the relocation of roads around hills has been accomplished either with no addition in road length in some instances or with the adding of only a few feet to the highway in others.

Maine Prisoners Work on Roads.

For the first time in the history of New England prisoners have been put to work on the roads. Maine has taken the initiative in the movement and recent months prisoners from the Cumberland county jail were put to work on the highways. So far the experiment appears to be a success.

LITTLE HINTS FOR POULTRY

Watch Chicks Closely and Save Those Making Most Satisfactory Growth—Keep Them Busy.

(By MRS. G. W. RANDLETT, North Dakota Experiment Station.)

Human sympathy to the bird's comfort amounts to dollars and cents. Clean the nests occasionally and put in a fresh supply of nest material. Uniform nest boxes add to the attractiveness of the house.

White diarrhea is contagious among young chicks.

The purchase of a few baby chicks from some fine pen of birds will make a splendid start if you care to start in June.

If your breeding pens were properly bred and mated you need not be surprised to find some of the chickens developing into finer specimens than their parents.

Watch the chicks closely and mark the ones making the most satisfactory growth. Select the ones that are plump, full-breasted and in good proportion. You will not care to keep those that grow leggy and have thin breasts.

Never, under any circumstances, keep more birds than you can take care of well.

Green food is necessary for all ages of poultry, but doubly so for the little chicks. Water and green food are cheap and very important.

Be sure the baby chicks have plenty of exercise. Keep them busy and hungry.

Keep the hopper full of dry mash all of the time. This gives the chickens an opportunity to balance the grain rations fed.

Remember, full-fed chicks are paying chicks. It pays big dividends to hurry their growth.

Always practice absolute cleanliness in feeding.

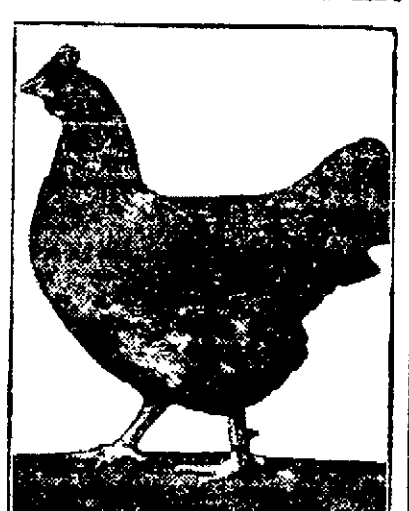

Cull the flock closely. Keep the best and prepare the rest for market. Enrich the garden plot with the poultry droppings.

Constant thought and judgment are necessary in poultry raising.

YELLOW COLORING IN SHANKS

Has Not Yet Been Proved That It Means Hen Is Equipped to Lay More Eggs Than Others.

Many believe that a hen that has yellow skin will give richer milk than will one that has a white skin. But how about a hen with the yellow shanks of that color laying the most eggs? At the Maine station it has been found that the coloring matter which gives the yellow color to a hen's shanks is the same as that which gives the color to the yolks of the eggs, and that the shanks of a good layer will be much lighter in color at the end of her laying period than when she began.

So it looks like the coloring matter in the shanks has been used to color the yolks of the eggs. It hasn't been proved yet that a lot of yellow coloring in the shanks means that the hen is equipped to lay a lot of eggs, and how about those that have white, black or blue shanks? But maybe something will be worked out from this coloring matter business that will help us to know good layers.

DIARRHEA FATAL TO CHICKS

One of Most Common Causes of Mortality—Disease Can Be Prevented by Proper Feeding.

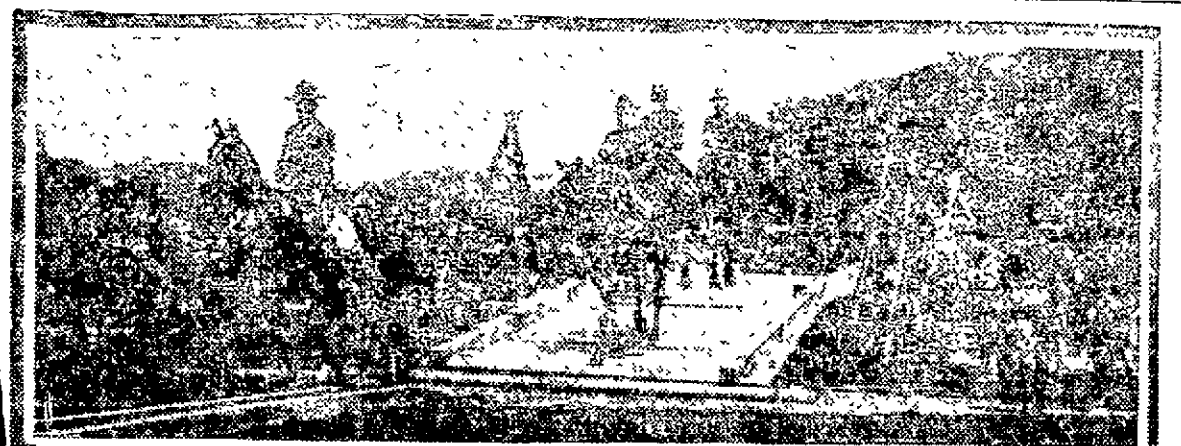

One of the most common causes of chick mortality is white diarrhea. While it has been established that this disease is usually communicated to the chick before it is hatched, it has also been established that the disease can be held in check and even prevented by proper feeding.

The organisms that cause white diarrhea are killed by weak acids. For this reason sour milk can well be made a part of the chicks' rations for the first few days. Either moisten the food with it, or set in shallow drinking pans. In addition, however, do not neglect to supply plenty of clean, pure drinking water.

New York, Sept. 29.—Speculative interest was again centered in the specialties, which have been prominent since the beginning of the week. There was a wild opening in Baldwin Locomotive, first sales being recorded as 8,000 shares from 135 to 140, a gain of 12 points over yesterday's final figures. Tennessee Copper, with an advance of 7 1/2 to 68, was established at a new high record. American Locomotive made a gain of 2 points to 70, Pressed Steel moved up 2 1/2 to 75 1/2, Colorado Fuel jumped 3 1/2 to 66 1/2 and Railway Steel Spring advanced 3 1/2 to 48 1/2. The copper stocks were irregular, Utah opening 1/2 lower while Inspiration was up 1 1/2 to 38 1/2. Steel Common was comparatively quiet, ranging from 78 1/2 to 78 3/4. After the first few minutes prices reacted sharply, Baldwin dropping eight points to 132 and Tennessee five to 63. Set-backs also occurred in the minor steel industrial and Inspiration Copper. Erie was the most active of the railway group, opening 3/4 higher at 33 1/2, and then receding to 33. Reading opened 1 1/2 lower at 152 and then rallied to 152 1/2.

STEREOPTICON LOAN LIBRARY.

Novel Educational Methods of the U. S. Public Health Service.

The U. S. public health service believes that "Education is the road to sanitary progress." To this end it has established a stereopticon loan library, probably the first of its kind, which is daily sending out slides upon the request of sanitarians, educators and other persons interested in the promulgation of the doctrine of personal hygiene and public sanitation.

The officials of the Nebraska state fair desired to stage a series of popular lectures on hygiene and sanitation. They applied to the surgeon general of the United States public health service for slides. Catalogues containing photographs of the slides, and descriptive matter thereon, were immediately forwarded to the officials of the fair, together with a blank on which to make request for various slides. The fair officials filled out the request and returned the catalogues to the surgeon general. The slides were packed and shipped and when the lectures shall have been given they will be re-packed and returned to the surgeon general. In this way a large number of people will have received this important information in a pleasing manner.

The stereopticon loan library covers a wide range of subjects, from sanitary conditions in Alaska to yellow fever. There are special collections on the diseases of children, hookworm, leprosy, malaria, milk production, mouth hygiene, pellagra, plague, rural schools, smallpox, tropical diseases, tuberculosis, and typhoid fever. Each of the sets is in duplicate and in the case of the more frequently used slides there are several sets, so that the application will not be disappointed in his selection. Not only are the services of the stereopticon loan library utilized by some private individuals, but the officers of the public health service and state and local health officials throughout the country are making use of this logical system of public health education.

ODDS AND ENDS.

Gelmer & Beatty will open a millinery and dressmaking establishment in the rooms adjoining Sahler's store at Stone Ridge on Saturday, October 2. Miss Beatty formerly was in the employ of Miss Hoffman, the Fair street milliner of this city.

LOCAL DEATH RECORD.

Recent Deaths and Funerals of Persons in This Vicinity.

Miss Rachel Burton, aged in her 79th year, died at New Paltz on Monday. She was a former resident of the town of Saugerties. The funeral services were held in the Blue Mountain Reformed Church this afternoon, Rev. J. V. Wemple officiating. Interment was in the Blue Mountain cemetery.

Edgar Terwilliger, a former resident of Highland, and a brother of Charles Terwilliger of that place, died on Friday at his home in New York. He was 77 years old and is survived by his wife, one sister, Mrs. Boughton of New York, and three brothers, Charles of Highland and Cyrus and James of New York. The funeral was held in Highland on Sunday with interment in Highland cemetery.

The funeral of Roger McBrien, who was killed by West Shore train No. 4 near St. Mary's Cemetery on Tuesday afternoon, will take place from his late residence, No. 51 O'Neil street, on Friday morning at 9 o'clock and at 9:30 o'clock from St. Joseph's Church, where a solemn high mass of requiem will be celebrated. Mr. McBrien was 78 years old, having celebrated his birthday on August 15 last. He was born in County Sligo, Ireland, in 1837, and came to the United States in 1857. He settled in this city and engaged in the trucking business, which he followed for a number of years, when he entered the employ of the city. He retired from active business life three years ago. He possessed a most kindly disposition, which endeared him to a host of friends. Mr. McBrien is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Joseph C. Hurley, with whom he resided, and by four grandchildren, John and Roger McBrien of Olean, N. Y., and Anna Marie and Charles Hurley of this city. His wife died about three years ago, and Mr. McBrien, as stated in The Freeman Tuesday evening, was on his way to St. Mary's Cemetery, where his wife is interred, to care for the family plot when he was struck by the train and killed. Mr. McBrien was rather hard of hearing and it is probable he did not hear the train approaching. Engineer Edward Sterley made every effort to bring the train to a stop when he saw Mr. McBrien crossing the tracks, but the momentum of the train was too great and carried it beyond the place of the accident. Engineer Sterley and Conductor Frank Everett reported the accident to the local authorities as soon as the train reached the Union station and were allowed to proceed with the train to New York. The body of Mr. McBrien was examined by Coroner Kelly and later was removed to McCutcheon's undertaking parlors. The law and right arm were found to have been fractured from the impact of the locomotive.

Grit Always Wins.

Grit is the thing that counts. We all know young men who are hanging around waiting for father to slip out of his old shoes. As if a pair of old shoes ever made a man out of a loafer! Why, father's shoes are ten times too big for any man that thinks money somebody else has earned will make him a gentleman!

Grit is what these young chaps need, whether they know it or not. The day will come when the only man the world will count worthy of its respect will be the man who does things, even if he is forced to shut his teeth hard to keep back the groan of pain.

Folks used to think that the only real soldier was the man who marched away to the sound of fife and drum, to shoot and kill and destroy. It is not so—E. L. Vincent in Farm Life.

Bulls and Bears.

The Stock Exchange use of the term "bear" is with reference to the animals pulling down. The bear pulls down prices; so in the other direction the bull tosses them up. Originally the expression was "a bearskin jobber," applied to a person who sold a bearskin before he had caught his bear. The bearskin jobber was a person who sold stocks which he did not own. Of course he was interested by the fact of his sale to have prices come down and schemed to pull them down. In that way he became called simply a bear without reference to the original proverb.—Philadelphia Press.

Prevention of the Flight of Birds.

To prevent birds from flying without the barbarous and injurious system sometimes of cutting their wings it will be found sufficient to tie together with a thread three or four of the largest feathers of one wing. This destroys the balance, the wings do not act symmetrically in the air, and flight is

BRITISH DEFEAT TURKISH FORCES

By Telegram to The Freeman.

London, Sept. 29.—A severe defeat has been inflicted to the Turks by the British in the Persian gulf sphere of operations. It was announced in the House of Commons today by J. Austen Chamberlain, secretary for India. The Turks are retreating toward Bagdad, pursued by the British.

Mr. Chamberlain read the following official dispatch from General Nixon, commanding in Mesopotamia, dated September 22:

Operations of the Sixth division along the Tigris have been successful. The enemy's position east of the river has been broken. The Turkish forces were severely defeated. The British were full of dead. Our casualties were under 500. We took guns, many rifles, several hundred prisoners and a quantity of ammunition.

MRS. MOHR INDICTED.

Three Negroes Also Indicted for Murder of Dr. Mohr.

Providence, R. I., Sept. 29.—Mrs. Elizabeth Blair Mohr was indicted today on the charges of murdering her husband, Dr. C. Franklin Mohr, and assault with intent to kill Miss Emily C. Burger, the physician's secretary. The three negroes who have been held since the physician was shot to death were also indicted on similar counts.

Mrs. Mohr is now at liberty on $10,000 bail, but it is expected that the state will demand her surrender and the setting of higher bail.

The negroes, George W. Healis, Victor Brown and Henry Spellman, probably will have to remain in jail until their trial. Healis was the physician's chauffeur, and was driving his automobile when Dr. Mohr was fatally shot on the night of September 1 on the road between Providence and Newport.

Mrs. Mohr was subsequently implicated by confessions made by the negroes, and today's indictments were the result. The widow has protested her innocence since the killing and appealed for permission to testify before the grand jury, but this was refused.

Children's Eyes and Glasses.

The eye is the organ that gives us the sense of sight, and makes it possible for us to enjoy the beautiful. Without it man is placed at a great disadvantage; and yet many men who would leave no stone unturned to save the eyes of a horse, will let their children go through childhood or possibly through life, with diseased or deformed eyes and do little or nothing for them. They could better the horse for more dollars if the eyes were perfect, but they can not see far enough into the future, to realize that the child would have a greater earning power when grown if his or her eyes were perfect, or at least perfect as possible.

Children should not be allowed to enter school before six years of age, nor should the child be allowed to look much at pictures, blocks or anything requiring close vision for long at a time, as fusion of the vision does not take place until about the age of six, and for that reason children of four or five years of age should not be sent to the kindergarten, as close application of the eyes at this age causes more near sighted people than any other factor. Children are apt to form the habit of holding their books close to the eyes while studying; this causes a strain of the muscles of the eyes both within and on the outside of the eyeball, which is another cause for near sightedness and is a cause of cross-eyes.

We often have astigmatism in children, and, in order to see, they must hold the book close, and squint the eyelids; another cause for cross-eyes. We occasionally see a child that is exceedingly far-sighted, and who to see properly, requires a lens even stronger than does the average person at sixty years of age.

Poor vision often accounts for the child's condition, so often found in children. Errors in vision very frequently cause cross-eyes and if a child begins to show symptoms of cross-eyes, no matter how young, the eyes should be properly tested, and if necessary treated, as such conditions usually increase, and after they have reached the stage where one eye only is used, the other eye loses its vision to a greater or less degree.

If a child needs glasses they should be worn, but cheap stores and peddlers should be avoided. Reputable eye specialists should be consulted, for there are many children and young persons wearing glasses today who do not need them, and many are wearing incorrect and injurious glasses.

Relfe Wins in San Francisco.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

San Francisco, Sept. 29. James Relfe, Jr., today stands re-elected as mayor of San Francisco. At yesterday's municipal primary he decisively defeated Eugene Schmitz, who, according to the latest returns, had polled but 12,024 votes against Relfe's 23,172. Schmitz as mayor of the city was prosecuted during the graft expose of 1906-07 and thrown out of office.

Clothing Workers Strike.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Chicago, Sept. 29.—Window smashing, arrests and noisy demonstrations marked the activities in the clothing workers strike here today. Union officials reported 2,000 more workers on strike, claiming a total of 25,000 men who have walked out. The employers declared that not more than 4,000 men are out.

Woman's World

A Suffragist Refugee Tells of Woman's Position in Poland.

MME. ISABEL STRUSINSKA.

Mme. Strusinska is a Pole, a native of Warsaw, who lived in Lemberg, Galicia, until her home was destroyed and many of her relatives killed in the capture of the city by the Austro-German army. Then she escaped to England. But although she is really a Russian citizen by reason of her residence in Lemberg, she is a subject of Austria and had to travel under an Austrian passport.

Under the circumstances she was, of course, persona non grata in London. She was put under police surveillance and was obliged to live within what is known as the five mile limit. Unable to endure these restrictions, she succeeded a few weeks ago in coming to America, and she is now traveling in this country, assisting in the work of collecting money for the relief of those of her countrymen who have lost their all in this cruel war.

The Polish women, she said, have more real freedom than the women of Russia. Their opinions are of weight in the affairs of the family, and their advice is always sought by their husbands, not only in business enterprises, but in larger, patriotic questions as well. Though the men have but a restricted franchise, the women are seeking the suffrage for themselves. Both in Lemberg and in Warsaw there were, before the outbreak of the war, large and active suffrage societies affiliated with the International Suffrage association.

All suffrage work has been laid aside now. Mme. Strusinska says, in the more immediate need of ministering to the war sufferers.

A PARTY FROCK.

For the Small School-girl's Party This Fall.

OLD MOTHER RUMBOLD.

This pretty frock may be developed in embroidered crepe de chine, tulle, or figured voile. It is trimmed with narrow silk ruffles quaintly arranged. With white socks, a butterfly bow and buttoned pumps your small daughter will be attractively outfitted for her first fall party or dancing class.

For Thin Arms.

For thin arms gentle massage with cocoa butter will be found helpful. Anoint the palm of the hand with cocoa butter and gently but thoroughly knead the flesh from wrist to elbow, working in the cocoa butter at the same time. A good exercise for the forearm is to lie on your back on the floor and extend your arms to the right and left on a line with your shoulders and open and close the fists fifteen or twenty times, spreading the fingers wide apart every time the hands are opened.

Danger Passed.

When you have smiled a few times at the good things of life and beckoned to them in friendly fashion, you will actually be able to laugh honestly and simply—not at what, hurt you once, but with a full faith in the fact that it can hurt you no longer.

DREAM OF CONFUCIUS.

Many Benevolent Persons Are Still Dreaming the Same Thing.

It was the dream of Confucius 2,400 years ago that one day humanity should be composed entirely of superior persons. This is a dream that appears to be still indulged in by many intelligent, benevolent and highly estimable gentlemen in this country, if we may judge from their suggestions on the subject of the establishment of peace to follow the present war. Their reasoning appears to be based upon the Confucian theory of the progressive improvement of the human race and their own views as to the growth of sanity in the conduct of international affairs.

When asked for the facts in support of their theories, they offering, for there are none, their benevolent aspirations being apparently mistaken for facts. It is a grim commentary upon such theories that the land where Christ lived and taught is now an armed camp. Soldiers are maneuvering every day on the Mount of Olives and at Golgotha and Jerusalem. The English, French and Russian consents have been turned into barracks, and between Judea and Jericho, where transportation was by mule pack in the days when Christ came to bring "peace on earth," a road is being constructed for armored motor cars. These facts, and the further fact that Jerusalem for so many years has been the center of discordant contests between Christians of different sects, for control of the holy places, in no way discredit the teachings of Christ, although they do raise a doubt as to the current interpretations of those teachings upon which the hopes and prophecies of universal peace are founded. The peace that Christ promises is not of this world, as He has Himself declared. However, we are trenching upon theology and that is not our pigeon, except so far perhaps as mistaken theories as to the teachings of Christianity lead to dangerously misleading conclusions as to the conduct of national and international affairs, which we believe to be the present case. We are not disposed to trust the security of the American Republic to the acceptance by foreign nations of the doctrines of the false prophets of peace.

F-4 VICTIMS BROUGHT HOME FOR LAST RITES.

Coffins being lowered from the Supply to the tug Active, to be carried ashore. The bodies of the U. S. sailors who perished on the submarine F-4 when that vessel sank to the bottom of Honolulu harbor in March, and which a few weeks ago, were brought home from Hawaii to America aboard the U. S. S. Supply. At San Francisco, the tug Active transported the bodies, covered with the American flag, to the shore to be transhipped to their homes.

VETERANS MARCH IN GRAND REVIEW

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, Sept. 29.—All that is left of the Grand Army of the Republic, survivors of the enfilade of shot and shell on the battlefield and conquerors of the ravages of time—marched up Pennsylvania avenue here this morning and reproduced the grand review of fifty years ago. Flanked by the cheering thousands who crowded the sidewalks, saluted by the president of the United States, they were greeted as the heroes of the greatest crisis this country ever faced.

They marched under a cloudless sky, the white sunlight of late September emphasizing the silver of their hair. From every flagstaff and from all the windows of the buildings along the line of march the stars and stripes floated in the slow breeze.

Bands from every section of the country played the airs to whose enthusiastic strains these men had made their historic charges fifty and more years ago.

Confederate soldiers, wearing the uniform of the gray, occupied seats of honor on the reviewing stand in front of the White House and the rebel yell rang out again and again, expressing the death of sectionalism and the eternity of glory won by the warriors under fire.

As Lieut. General Nelson A. Miles, U. S. A., retired, leading the line of men who had heard Lincoln and his successor, President Johnson, thank them for their valor, rode up the avenue from the peace monument past the White House the sidewalks became surging seas of fluttering handkerchiefs and waving hats. The variously colored gowns of the women, the brilliant sunlight and the riot of little flags were the stage setting of what was in many ways the most remarkable parade of the grand army. Never was enthusiasm so unbounded. Never did the country, speaking through the thousands of visitors to the city, give the line of blue such expression of gratitude and praise.

The review was of more solemn impressiveness as all realized that this venerable legion was passing over the historic thoroughfare for the last time.

It was a line in which many shouldered bows and many feet half-shackled by the weight of years. But everywhere there was the spirit of youth. The passage of time could not touch the souls of the men who had fought their way to glory. The younger generation saw in the marchers only the picture of patriotism and the figures of fame.

If This Is Your Birthday
SEPTEMBER 29

Libra, the governing sign of this birthday, gives energy, ambition, a stubborn persistence and an ability to concentrate all its powers on the purpose at hand.

Libra is represented in the Zodiac by the scales and Libra people are keenly alive to the law of justice and unless they act justly they will suffer.

Libra people will find in marriage the greatest help or the greatest detriment. They will find the most helpful, harmonious mate in the later half of January or the first two weeks in February.

They should never try to continue relations with a faultfinding critical nature, as it will destroy their efforts in all directions.

The governing signs, Jupiter and Neptune, give great tenacity or purpose and mental concentration. The Freeman Want Ads will locate lost articles during the coming two weeks.

Fully Explained.

In these days of initiative, referendums and recalls it is interesting to note the explanation given by a well known politician to an out of town friend the other day in a hotel lobby. "Mr Man goes home and announces that he is going downtown after supper to meet a friend. That's the initiative. The wife of the house says, 'Are you?' in that ascending voice which seems to walk over the roof of her nerves. That's the referendum. Then Mr Man sits down and reads his paper. That's the recall. And that's all there is to it. Understand it now, don't you? Just as easy and simple as two and two are four."—Columbus Dispatch.

MENKE'S DAILY SPORTING LETTER

(By Frank G. Menke.)

New York, Sept. 29.—The Grand Rapids track seems to be the fastest in the Grand Circuit. The time made there, both in pacing and trotting, was better than at any of the five other big tracks where the harness game flourishes.

The slowest pacing mark was made in Detroit while the slowest trotting was done on the Empire City (New York) track. Here are the records, covering the six tracks:

Cleveland—Trotting, 2:08.92; pacing, 2:06.25; grand average, 2:07.58 1/2.
Detroit—Trotting, 2:09.60 1/2; pacing, 2:09.69; grand average, 2:09.64 1/2.
Kalamazoo—Trotting, 2:11.52 4-5; pacing, 2:08.41 1-8; grand average, 2:09.27.
Grand Rapids—Trotting, 2:07.31 1/2; pacing, 2:05.59 1/2; grand average, 2:06.45 1/2.
Montreal—Trotting, 2:10.65 1/2; pacing, 2:06.76 1/2; grand average, 2:08.71 1/2.
Empire City—Trotting, 2:11.75 1/2; pacing, 2:08.68 1/2; grand average, 2:10.25.

McKerick Discusses Gibbons.

Dan McKerick, who guides the destinies of young Ahearn, rises up to ask "who is this Mike Gibbons person anyway?"
Ahearn, in the opinion of the aforementioned Daniel, can beat the so-called "St. Paul Ghost" to a pulp, if given the chance.
"The trouble," comments Daniel, "is that Gibbons won't give Ahearn a match. He's matched up to meet my man in New Orleans in January and now he's trying to dodge that match. But if I've got anything to say about the matter, Gibbons will have to go through with that bout."
"Ahearn has beaten the best men in his class, and he can beat Gibbons. I guess Gibbons thinks so too; that why he's not in anyway anxious to meet Ahearn."

International Lost Money.

The 1915 season proved to be another disastrous one for the International League—the "Belgium of Baseball."

Only two clubs of the eight in the Barrow's circuit are said to have more than cleared expenses—and their profits were extremely small. Those clubs were Buffalo and Providence, the two clubs that fought it out for pennant honors. Jersey City, Rochester, Toronto and Montreal are reported to have lost heavily. The home attendance in those towns were woefully small all year.

Richmond broke about even and Harrisburg is said to have done likewise, although it would seem that this outfit should be listed among the losers. The club, while in Newark early in the season, drew only the smallest kind of crowds. After it was transferred to the Pennsylvania town the attendance showed some improvement—but not much. And on the road the club did not do any drawing.

The Case of Texas Jim.

Texas Jim, one of the best free-for-all pacers in the country stands out as a horse that inherited only the good traits of his papa and mama.
The sire of Texas Jim was Texas Jack, one of the gamest horses that ever pulled a sulky—but nothing out of the ordinary in the line of speed. The dam was Probation Wilkes, a wonderfully fast horse but known as a rank quitter.

Texas Jim has inherited his sire's bulldog tenacity and his mother's speed—a combination that has enabled him to do quite a bit of record smashing.

New Haven as Fig'it Mecca.

There's a concerted movement afoot to make New Haven, Conn., the real fighting center in the east. Twenty round decision bouts are permitted there. The town is almost midway between Boston and New York and convenient to many of the larger towns in Connecticut and Rhode Island.

Philip J. Smith, chief of police, is the boxing commissioner in New Haven, and he points out that there's enough room in the big ice rink there to permit the staging of some of the very biggest bouts.

"The rink, used for hockey games, seats 3,800 normally," says Chief Smith. "If a bout were staged there the floor space of 200x100 feet could be built up with extra seats, increasing the seating capacity to 6,000."

The Elcaya Company.

Articles of incorporation have been filed with the secretary of state at Albany by the Elcaya Company of Ellenville, to do business in drugists and toilet articles. The capital stock is $300,000. The incorporators are A. A. Kelly, R. H. Wajdel and J. P. Mosby of New York city.

SUCCESSFUL FAIR OF Y. M. C. A. AUXILIARY

(By Frank G. Menke.)

Tuesday the annual fair, given by the women of the Auxiliary of the Y. M. C. A., held at the Y. M. C. A. building, was opened with a large attendance and a general good time. The famous chicken pie supper was served and about two hundred and fifty persons thoroughly enjoyed the toothsome viands. The booths proved unusually attractive both in decoration and articles for sale. So lavish have the ladies been in their preparations for the fair, that while the sales at all of the booths were excellent, there will still be a fine assortment left for those who attend the fair today, to purchase from. To the right of the entrance, as one entered the building, the spacious room was very artistically decorated with sentinal stacks of corn, autumn flowers and autumn leaves and the goods for sale were arranged on tables. There were beautiful and useful fancy articles, home-made preserves and lemonade attractively arranged. At one side of the doorway in the wide hall, a real "grab bag," containing exceptionally choice "prizes" was well patronized. In the parlor to the left of the entrance, were the candy booth, with its white foundation very prettily decorated with laurel and asparagus, and with its tables fairly groaning under the weight of rich sweetness. The flower booth was in this room also, and was in the shape of a white pergola, decorated with laurel, "spice wood" berries and asparagus. Here the potted plants, cut flowers and bulbs for autumn planting were in profusion. The reading room was given over to the handkerchief booth, which was exceedingly dainty in its decorations of cherry blossoms and delicate green foliage and contained an endless variety of the ever acceptable handkerchief. For the two days, the billiard room has lost its identity under an avalanche of aprons of every sort. A gay touch is given the room with Japanese lanterns and flowers. Certainly the fair is well worth attending and a record crowd is expected this afternoon and evening. The "specialty" tonight will be a program of fun given by Joe Lorraine, the entertainer.

There promises to be considerable argument over the date of the first series game, Pat Moran, of the Phillies, favoring Saturday, October 3, and Bill Carrigan, of the Red Sox, insisting upon Friday, October 5. Both have good reasons. Moran wants the series to start on Saturday so that he can work Alexander, in the first two games. If the series starts on Saturday, it would give Alexander a one-day rest over Sunday, enough to put him in shape to go back into the box on Monday. Carrigan wants Friday so as to circumvent the Moran plan. He realizes that if the series starts on Saturday his men will have to face Alexander twice in succession, and he knows that if the Philadelphia team grabbed the first two games it would give them a tremendous edge.

The national commission will decide upon the opening date just as soon as the Red Sox and Phillies have mathematically clinched the pennants.

The series probably will be conducted the same way as last year. The first two games will be played in the city that wins the toss; the next two in the other city. If the series is still undecided the teams will play the fifth game in the first town and the sixth in the second. If the count then is three all a coin again will be flipped to decide where the seventh game will be played.

The distance between Boston and Philadelphia is something close to 350 miles. It would be possible to make this trip each night, but the journey is a long, circuitous one, and because traveling tires the players considerably the commission will adopt the above schedule.

$60,000 ON TOSS OF A COIN

(By Frank G. Menke.)

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
New York, Sept. 29.—Something like $60,000 may hinge upon the coin flipping that will decide whether the first game of the world series will be played in Boston or Philadelphia.

Should the series go to odd games it means that the town which stages the first combat will also stage the odd one. Should Philadelphia be the place for the first and the odd game the receipts for the odd game will be about $60,000 less than if Boston staged the game.

The seating capacity of the Braves' park, which the Red Sox will use, is nearly 44,000; the capacity of the Phillies' park is 21,000. That means a difference of 23,000 in seating capacity at $2.50 a head, would mean about $60,000 in real, regular money.

There promises to be considerable argument over the date of the first series game, Pat Moran, of the Phillies, favoring Saturday, October 3, and Bill Carrigan, of the Red Sox, insisting upon Friday, October 5. Both have good reasons. Moran wants the series to start on Saturday so that he can work Alexander, in the first two games. If the series starts on Saturday, it would give Alexander a one-day rest over Sunday, enough to put him in shape to go back into the box on Monday. Carrigan wants Friday so as to circumvent the Moran plan. He realizes that if the series starts on Saturday his men will have to face Alexander twice in succession, and he knows that if the Philadelphia team grabbed the first two games it would give them a tremendous edge.

The national commission will decide upon the opening date just as soon as the Red Sox and Phillies have mathematically clinched the pennants.
